Blue Mountain Ranch Camp statement in response to the COVID-19 virus:

Because camp happens in a close community, we have always taken great care to develop and maintain medical practices to address a variety of communicable diseases, both common and rare. Although COVID-19 currently poses no immediate concern for camp, we have plans in place that will be revised in cooperation with public health authorities as additional guidance is provided. We will work closely with the Park County Health Department to maintain effective protocols for the identification and appropriate treatment of any illnesses that may occur at camp. We will continue to keep you updated as new information becomes available.

As a reminder, all campers will have a current physical examination by a doctor, and our nurses conduct an arrival day screening during the first day of camp. We will update these health and wellness screening policies and procedures to reflect the current best practices recommended by public health authorities.

Sincerely,
Blue Mountain Ranch
